Farm Rescue Receives $95,000 Grant From Engelstad Family Foundation
Funds represent Engelstad Family Foundation's support for struggling farm families

Horace, N.D., February 22, 2016 - Farm Rescue, a nonprofit organization that provides planting, harvesting or haying assistance free of charge to farm and ranch families who have experienced a major illness, injury or natural disaster, received a grant totaling $95,000 from the Engelstad Family Foundation.

Funding will go toward a truck and bale cart to expand Farm Rescue's haying assistance. Farm Rescue now offers hay moving services to farm and ranch families in need.

"Our goal is to offer a diverse array of services to provide assistance to the maximum number of farm and ranch families. Farm Rescue will be able to accomplish this through the generous support of the Engelstad Family Foundation. We are proud to partner with the Engelstad Family Foundation to further our mission."

- Bill Gross, Founder/President, Farm Rescue.

"We commend all volunteers for their charitable work and know they are helping those that would turn around and help them if it was needed. You are wished good fortune for the growing and harvesting season of 2016."

- Betty Engelstad, Trustee, Engelstad Family Foundation.
