Farm Rescue™

Message from the Founder and President

Farm Rescue will soon be assisting its 1,000th farm family. We owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to all the donors, sponsors and volunteers who have partnered with us to achieve this significant milestone for the organization. Partnerships have been the driving force in the success of our mission to help farm families experiencing crisis. We continue to focus on building mutually supportive alliances that are inclusive and a win-win for recipients of our services, donors, rural communities, volunteers and agribusiness.

The success of our mission is reflected in the high percentage of donors and volunteers that return year-over-year to support our efforts, and the percentage of farms still in business after receiving help from Farm Rescue. We are honored to retain more than 85% of our annual sponsors and donors, with over 80% of our volunteers returning each year to carry out this life changing work. The statistic we are most proud of, however, is that 97% of the families we assist are still farming three years later. These impressive numbers are truly a positive affirmation that the compassionate mission of Farm Rescue resonates clearly with our supporters and is having a beneficial impact on agribusiness. Together, we will continue to preserve the legacy of family farms and foster economic development in rural communities.

I invite you to take a few minutes to visit our website to view farmer, sponsor and volunteer testimonial videos. There are also memorial videos that honor our Good Samaritans. I think you will find it inspirational to view firsthand the goodness of humanity taking place through our efforts on a daily basis. Please help us raise awareness of our mission by sharing these videos on social media.

Thank you for your continued support!

Sincerely,

Bill Gross

Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others.

Stories of Assistance

GARY AND BARBARA CARSTENS – Charles City, IA: Gary and Barb Carstens have operated their farm near Charles City, IA since the early 1980s. In addition to growing crops and raising livestock, the Carstens also own and operate a grain dryer company in nearby New Hampton. On an early spring morning, Gary was out checking cows in a pasture near their farmyard when one of the cows became startled. She kicked her hind legs, connecting with Gary’s knee and propelling him onto the ground. After attempting to stand on the leg, it became apparent he had sustained significant structural damage. After an early-April surgery to repair the knee, the Carstens focused on the many tasks ahead during calving and planting that would need to be accomplished without Gary’s involvement. Thanks to help from neighbors, Barb navigated the remainder of calving season and the couple turned their attention to their corn and soybean crops. Thanks to a family friend, the Carstens were made aware of Farm Rescue and its free planting assistance services. Local John Deere dealer, Bodensteiner Implement, helped connect Gary and Barb with the Farm Rescue office and soon after, they submitted an application for assistance. Their approval came swiftly, and the couple began collaborating with Farm Rescue’s staff on a game plan for seeding their corn and soybeans. Volunteers delivered Farm Rescue’s John Deere 8R tractor to the Carstens farm to power their efforts, and Bodensteiner Implement further extended its support by sponsoring use of a 24-row planter. After several days of work, the Carstens crops were in the ground and Farm Rescue’s volunteers and equipment were on to the next farm in need of assistance.

Gary and Barbara Carstens

Clifford and Karen Frosli

CLIFFORD AND KAREN FROSLIE – Rothsay, MN: Like many farmers and ranchers, Clifford and Karen Frosli have always taken pride in being self-sufficient in their operation. Throughout the past four decades, they’ve worked together to raise many wheat, soybean and corn crops on their Rothsay, MN farm. The growing season of 2022 began in the usual fashion, as the Froslies watched their planted fields progress nicely throughout the summer. Unfortunately, with harvest just around the corner, the family was dealt a difficult hand when Clifford was diagnosed with esophageal cancer. Over the next several weeks, he received daily radiation treatments and weekly chemotherapy to combat the disease, with additional surgery to follow. The Froslies knew it was time to accept a bit of help. With encouragement from friends and family, the couple submitted an application to Farm Rescue. Soon after, volunteers and equipment were dispatched to help bring in the family’s corn crop. The crew also received additional trucking and grain cart support from two helpful sons-in-law, as well as Clifford’s brother. Farm Rescue was happy to extend a helping hand to this wonderful family, as they focused on the greater battle at hand.

RODNEY AND KRISTIN COLE – Roberts, MT: Farm Rescue was created to help farm families in crisis – a key word being “families”. These operations rely on the work and dedication of several individuals to keep things afloat. When any individual is removed from the equation due to injury or illness, the impact is unmistakable. Other family members pick up the slack and shoulder a much heavier workload to compensate, but this can create a tremendous amount of stress and fatigue over time. This was the case for the Cole family near Roberts, MT after husband, Rodney, was diagnosed with a very rare blood disorder. He was told he could only receive replacement blood from a donor with the same disorder or the result could be fatal. After a nationwide search, the hospital and Red Cross were able to track down a supply of this rare blood type to begin Rodney’s treatment regimen. Unfortunately, this process required a lengthy stay in a Billings hospital during a very busy time on their farm. Throughout the next few months, his wife, Kristin, singlehandedly carried their operation through calving season and irrigation of several hundred acres of hay ground. With this crucial cattle feed waiting to be gathered, the couple decided it was time to contact Farm Rescue. One of our devoted volunteers worked some long days to bring in the family’s hay crop, which represented a large portion of their annual income. This Angel in Blue was honored to lend a hand during a very difficult situation, allowing the Coles to focus on treatment, rest and recovery.

“The windows for planting and harvesting are so small in much of the Midwest, with fewer neighbors than years past. Without Farm Rescue stepping in to fill that void, I think there would be a lot less family farms in operation. It’s a life saver for farmers and ranchers.”

Dear Farm Rescue

Over the years we have seen Farm Rescue equipment going by our house. I get a pit in my stomach when I see them for the farmer or rancher they are going to help because we know their operation has been hit with some sort of struggle. That pit is quickly followed by admiration for your organization and volunteers. However, you never think it will be you, you never think they will be pulling into your own yard. Well, here we are it was our yard this year. Words can't express how very grateful my husband and I are for your organization and volunteers. Our life was changed in a blink of an eye. I was bitter sweet seeing the equipment leaving without me this year. My combine is my happy place. But knowing someone was there to help my husband when I couldn't was a blessing. We will never forget this harvest season and your amazing volunteers. We will be forever grateful!! Thank You for all you do for the farmers and ranchers and Thank You for everything you did for us.

God Bless
Corby and Jen Meyer

Kyle + I are so thankful for Farm Rescues help during this harvest season. The help from Farm Rescue took a huge stress off of all of us during the busy harvest season and allowed Kyle to be by my side during my treatments. We couldn't be more appreciative for all the time your workers put in for us so I could go down the medical journey together with my best friend, my husband, by my side.

Thank you so much for helping get my soybeans harvested. A very special thank you to Mark and Chester for staying an extra day to make sure the job was completed. Conditions weren't perfect but they kept their cool. By how they handled adversity you could tell they are good Christian men.

Thank you also to the board and staff of Farm Rescue. It is a great organization that is doing a wonderful job.

Merry Christmas!

Become a Sponsor of Farm Rescue

Farm Rescue operations are funded by donations from businesses, organizations and individuals that support America's tradition of independent family farms and strong rural economies. We do not distribute funds to ranchers and farmers. Donations are used to pay for the many expenses associated with planting, haying, harvesting and livestock feeding assistance operations. Supporters of Farm Rescue can feel confident that their donation is directly helping farm and ranch families experiencing an unexpected crisis.

2022 Good Samaritan Awards

Kenneth Chyle was born and raised on a family farm near Auburn, KY, where he still resides today. He says his childhood years mainly revolved around farming and church. After his father's passing in 1957, nine-year-old Kenneth joined his older brother, Robert, in continuing the family operation. In addition to milking cows twice a day for many years, the brothers raised Black Angus cattle, tobacco, wheat, corn and soybeans, as well as operating a used machinery business. Kenneth is also a military veteran. Around 15 years ago, Kenneth was introduced to one of his greatest passions when a magazine article about Farm Rescue caught his eye. After a bit of online research, he decided to sign up as a volunteer. In his first year serving with Farm Rescue, Kenneth originally planned for a 2-week trip to assist during planting season. After doing such an impressive job, he was asked to stay on for a full month as a team leader. Kenneth has returned each year since, often making multiple trips to Farm Rescue's service states throughout the growing season to assist families in crisis with planting, harvest and hay hauling support. He has impacted the lives of dozens of farm families and continues to be one of the nonprofit's most devoted and knowledgeable volunteers. Kenneth is now in his 13th year of service with Farm Rescue.

Mark Baumgarten was raised on a family farm near Casselton, ND. He and his two sisters helped tend to a thousand acres of land, as well as stock cows and hogs. Mark says much like his father, he was born a farmer, but chose to attend North Dakota State University in pursuit of an engineering degree. After graduation from NDSU, Mark was hired by John Deere and spent 36 years with the company. Several years back, Mark's wife, Jackie, read a magazine article about Farm Rescue and encouraged him to sign up. Mark began serving Farm Rescue that same year. His talents and knowledge were quickly recognized and he was asked to serve as a team leader in his first spring of volunteering. Mark typically serves for two weeks each year during the spring planting season, but has also assisted with harvest operations. Outside the field, he has been a great recruiter of additional volunteers. More than a dozen current or retired John Deere employees have followed Mark's lead in serving our mission. He also played a key role in cultivating our early relationship with John Deere leadership. Mark has devoted additional time to the organization by developing volunteer training manuals, manning booths at various farm shows and events, as well as performing outreach on behalf of our nonprofit. Mark is now in his 10th year of service with Farm Rescue.

The Good Samaritan Award was created in 2016 to honor individuals who support Farm Rescue with the compassionate heart of the Good Samaritan. That support may include an overwhelming contribution to further the mission of the organization, serving as an ambassador for the nonprofit, or going above and beyond as an Angel in Blue volunteer to help farm families in crisis. Previous recipients of the Good Samaritan Award, include Agnes Liudahl of West Fargo, ND, Reuben Liechty of Jamestown, ND, the Engelstad Family of Las Vegas, NV, Gene Spichke and Warren Zakopyko of Kief, ND, Erwin "Smokey" Wright of Minot, ND, Bill Krumwiede of Voltaire, ND, Charlie Bartsch of Velva, ND and Garry Deckert of Bismarck, ND.
